WANT STATE FARM FOR INEBRIATES YOUTH CONFESSES TO MANY THEFTS

Medical Society Members Ask Legislature to Help Save Drunkards.

MOORE MEMORIAL FAVORED

Would Pay Tribute to Confederate Surgeon—Doctors End Session.

After being in session since Tuesday evening, the Medical Society of Virginia finished its labors early yesterday afternoon and adjourned to meet next year in Norfolk. The day was devoted to the reading of papers, for the most part of interest chiefly to the medical profession, and to the finishing up of various matters of business.

The convention this year was marked by an unusually large number of able addresses, said to excel in this respect any previous meeting of the society. Especially interesting and scholarly were the addresses delivered by invited lecturers from other States. In point of attendance the meeting just closed topped the other conventions of the society by a considerable number. Most of the delegates left the city for their homes by the afternoon train, a few remaining over for the boats and trains late night.

The convention opened yesterday morning with an address by Dr. C. C. Miller, of New Market, on the subject, "Can the Malarial Parasite Be Cultivated?" What Is the Malarial Parasite?

Favor Farm for Inebriates.

From the point of view of the layman the second paper of the day held especial interest. Dr. Stephen Harnberger, of Callett, discussed the topic, "Our Neglected Drunkards: What Virginia Should Do for Them." He drew a harrowing picture of the results of the drink evil, and of the utter indifference of the State as to devising means for dealing with the habitual drunkard. His contention was that the State should provide an asylum or other suitable retreat for this class of unfortunate, where they could be given scientific treatment, and perhaps cured. The address made a deep impression on the assembly and caused a member to introduce a resolution before the society, calling upon the president to appoint a committee of seven to go before the next Legislature and urge the establishment by the State of a farm for inebriates.

Other Addresses.

The concluding papers read before the convention were: "The Achievements and Victories of Medical Science," by Dr. J. W. Williams, Richmond; "The Efficiency of the Different Operations for Perineorrhaphy," by Dr. George F. Hammer, Lynchburg; "Rational Treatment of Post Partum Hemorrhage Based on the Mechanism," by Dr. George T. Harrison, Charlottesville; "Rectal Hemorrhage," by Dr. E. H. Terrell, Richmond.

"Analysis of the Last Fifty Cases of Goitre Operated on at St. Luke's Hospital," by Dr. Stuart McGuire, Richmond; "Cases of Seven Hundred Cases of Nitrous Oxide Anæsthesia," by Dr. Southgate Leitch, James H. Culpeper, of Norfolk; "The After-Care of Abdominal Sections," by Dr. Joseph T. Buxton, of Newport News; "Vicious Circles in Disease," by Dr. Philip T. Washington, D. C.; "Dilatations of the Uterus," by Dr. A. G. Brown, Richmond; "The Heart in Febrile Conditions," by Dr. George J. Williams, Newport News; "Hexamethyleneamine in the Treatment of Bronchitis," by Dr. Douglas Vandell, of Richmond; "Infantile Pellagra, With Report of a Case," by Dr. Lucien Lofton, Emporia, and "Report of a Case of Myositis Ossificans Following Hookworm Disease," by Dr. J. C. Walton, Richmond.

Indorse Moore Memorial.

Among the official acts of the convention was the drafting of a resolution approving the move to erect in Richmond a suitable monument to the memory of the late Samuel Preston Moore, M. D., once surgeon-general of the Confederate Army. A resolution was also carried at yesterday's meeting expressing the appreciation of the society of the long years of faithful service given to it by the late Dr. Landon B. Edwards, who held the office of secretary for more than a score of years.

The resolution for the erection of a monument to Dr. Moore was offered by Dr. C. W. P. Brock, of Richmond.

Consider Liquor Traffic.

Governor Mann yesterday appointed the following delegates from Virginia to the National Conference to Consider the Growing Evil of the Interstate Liquor Traffic, to be held in Washington on December 12 to 14: R. S. Babbitt, South Boston; George W. Hawburn, Falls Church; J. C. Cooper, Winchester; Crandall Mackey, Alexandria; J. E. D. Newman, Woodstock; J. F. Bellows, Germantown; Edwin J. Wellford, from Norfolk; Rev. James Cannon, Blackstone; W. P. Watson, Alexandria.

Go on Vacation.

Hon. Elmer B. Hardy, assistant secretary to Governor Mann, leaves this afternoon for his annual vacation. While gone he will endeavor to disburse all of the mail in Notaway County.

ADDRESS AT Y. M. C. A.

Dr. E. J. Banks, to Deliver Series of Lectures.

Edgar J. Banks, D. O., explorer and orientalist, will be with the Young Men's Christian Association all of next week, beginning tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, with a lecture for men only on the subject, "Babylonian Excavations and the Bible." The week-night lectures will begin at 8:30 o'clock. The subjects are: Monday night, "Modern Babylon" (illustrated); Tuesday night, "Babylon" (illustrated); Wednesday night, "Egyptian Excavations and the Bible" (illustrated); Thursday night, "Ancient Palestine" (illustrated); Friday night, "Turkey, the Sultan and His People" (illustrated).

Two Judgments Entered.

Judgments were entered yesterday in the Law and Equity Court in the suit of the Knott-Gordon Co. against the Knott-Gordon Co. and R. J. Johnson Pickle Company and R. J. Shoad for $525.00. Judgment was entered in the same court in the case of the Hotel Atlas Glass Company against Mrs. R. J. Johnson Pickle Company and R. J. Shoad for $165.44.

Raymond Smith Again in Trouble, and May Go to Reform School.

PLUNDER FOUND IN YARD

Arrests Follow Many Complaints Made of Small Robberies.

After numerous complaints of house thefts had been reported to police headquarters, Raymond Smith, sixteen years old, of 233 South Second Street, and Edwin Scott, twelve years old, of 115 North Third Street, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective-Sergeant Wiley and Detectives Kregel and Gentry as suspicious characters, and Tony Rocheleoli was also arrested on suspicion of having bought some of the stolen plunder. Rocheleoli's real name is said to be Giovanni.

The two boys are implicated by the detectives in six cases of theft. They are charged with stealing an amethyst and diamond ring from Miss Constance Anderson, of Fifth and Franklin Streets; a gold watch and chain and a pocket pencil from D. D. Martin, 635 East Grace Street; a gold watch and chain, a signet ring and a plain gold wedding ring from Mrs. Mary C. Russell, of 302 West Main Street; and other property which has not yet been identified. Among the latter is a signet ring with the letter "H" engraved on it, which the boys admitted having stolen from a house near Randolph and Main Streets, a gold dollar on the back of which is engraved the word "Mother," and two gold watches, one of which a rope chain it attached.

Answered Description.

Miss Anderson reported the theft from her on yesterday, and the detectives immediately began scouring the city for Raymond Smith, as a description given of the boy led them to believe that he was the boy wanted by Detective Kregel met them on Main Street, riding his bicycle.

"Hi, Mr. Kregel," they shouted in salutation.

"Hi," he answered back. "Come over here. I want to see you. Never was glad to see anybody in my life. Where is that ring, Raymond?"

"At home."

"Where is the watch?"

"Sold it to a negro."

The boy answered the questions with amazing frankness. He has been released from custody so often that he seems to believe that the thefts alleged against him are regarded by the police as nothing more than boyish pranks. But the police are serious.

Plunder Is Found.

The detectives accompanied Raymond to his home, and in the back yard, hidden in the yard, was found some of the plunder. Smith also admitted having stolen $10 from Martin's room. He lost the money, he said, shooting craps. Smith has been in trouble many times. He has escaped punishment because of an injury he received to his head several years ago. For weeks he lay in the Virginia Hospital unconscious, and it was feared that he would never recover. But he did recover, and since then, the police claim, he has been a thief. He has given the authorities much trouble, and Justice Griggs, now sitting in the city, has been asked to send him to the reformatory.

WANT CAMP'S HISTORY

J. Taylor Stratton Will Likely Be Chosen by Veterans for This Task.

The question of compiling a history of R. E. Lee Camp, No. 1, Confederate Veterans, of this city, is being discussed at a meeting held last night. No definite action was taken, as the matter is now in the hands of a committee. However, it was agreed that the members present that Adjutant J. Taylor Stratton be selected for this task. Mr. Stratton said that he would begin the work after January 1 if it was decided by the camp that it was its wish that he take it up.

NORFOLK IMPROVING

Promised Pay-as-You-Enter Cars by Railway Officials.

After making an inspection of the street car system of Norfolk and Portsmouth yesterday, Vice-President Price, Sutterling and General Manager W. B. Buchanan, of the Virginia Railway and Power Company, decided to recommend extensive improvements in both cities.

Before the beginning of the year Norfolk will have pay-as-you-enter cars. The additional devices are now being installed on the cars. This is in line with the intention of the trolley company, as Mr. Buchanan explained, to bring the system to Norfolk up to the highest standard, as has been done in Richmond and elsewhere.

Missing Two Months.

According to a report made to the police yesterday, T. J. Johnson, who lived at Stop 15, on the Westmain car line, has been missing for two months. He is described as being twenty-six years old, five feet ten inches tall, and weighing 150 pounds. He has a light complexion, light hair, and blue eyes. He wore a black suit of clothes when last seen. His address was reported by his wife, Mrs. Ad Johnson, who stated that she last heard from him in Covington.

Called on the Governor.

Judge Walter A. Watson, of the Chesterfield Circuit Court, was a caller at the office of Governor Mann yesterday. Captain R. S. Parks, former Senator from Lunenburg, also called on the Governor during the morning.

MORE DEFECTIVE CHURCH STEEPLES

Spires of Three Additional Churches Condemned by Inspector.

PARK PLACE IN GOOD ORDER

Broad Street Methodist in Worst Condition—Spires to Be Removed.

Spires of St. Mary's Catholic Church, at Third and Marshall Streets; of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, colored, on North First Street, and of Ebenezer Baptist Church, colored, at Leigh and Judah Streets, were found to be in unsafe condition by Deputy Building Inspector Phillips yesterday, and orders were issued by Building Inspector Beck for their removal.

The spire of St. John's German Evangelical Church, at Eighth and Marshall Streets, was examined and found to require some repairs, but not to be in dangerous condition. The spire of Park Place Methodist Church, at Pine and Franklin Streets, was found to be in perfect order, all of dressed heart timber without decay. The inspection will continue until every wooden spire in the city has been critically examined.

Will Take No Hush Measures. In view of the use to which the church buildings are put, Building Inspector Beck says he does not wish to take extreme measures, and in each case he is merely notifying the chairman of the boards of officers, so that the changes can be made without further delay. Unless the notices are ignored, there will be no court proceedings.

In the case of Broad Street Methodist Church, the spire is held to be in a dangerous condition, the woodwork rotten from the base up, and many of the cross supports out of place, also that the steeple rocks noticeably even a moderate wind. Immediate steps should be taken, it is said, to brace the steeple with scaffolding, pending its removal. L. T. Christian, chairman of the board of trustees, has called a meeting to consider plans for immediate alterations.

Services will be held as usual tomorrow in Broad Street Church, as the situation is not regarded as immediately dangerous, unless in a high wind.

Churches May Be Used.

In the cases of the First Presbyterian Church and the Seventh Street Christian Church, where the steeples have been condemned and ordered removed, their condition is regarded as by no means so dangerous. It is probable that the use of the churches as places of worship will not be interfered with. H. W. Wood, president of the board of deacons of the First Presbyterian Church, and T. M. Hundley, chairman of the official board of Seventh Street Christian Church, have notified Mr. Beck that they have called meetings to take up the matter at once. The spires will probably be removed as soon as plans can be drawn for harmonizing the architectural appearance of the fronts of the buildings, as the spires are in an unsafe condition and the probability of both churches eventually being destroyed.

The Highest Is the Best.

The highest spire in the city—that of the Grace Street Presbyterian Church—has been found to be in excellent order, and the inspectors pressed the highest approval of the class of workmanship found in the spire of Park Place Methodist Church, where the steeple is of cast-iron. The repairs needed at St. John's German Evangelical Church will not, it is believed, be expensive, nor will they require the removal of the steeple.

In the case of the two Catholic churches examined yesterday—St. Mary's, at Third and Marshall, and St. Joseph's, for colored people, on North First Street—the spires are not tall, and are perfect in an absolutely dangerous condition. To make the repairs that would be required, however, would necessitate the tearing of the present steeples, and the erecting of a large number of beams—work the church probably be both expensive and in violation of the building code requirement as to fireproof church spire construction.

Expected to Move Shortly.

Father Edwards, of St. Mary's, asked whether the church would stand for five years, saying that by that time the church would probably be moved to the neighborhood of the Richmond College, in the West End. When shown specimens of worm-eaten timber broken from the supporting beams, he agreed it would be necessary to remove the spire at once.

The inspectors have not yet made a report on the condition of Trinity Methodist spire, which has been partly examined. Much of the woodwork in Broad Street Methodist Church spire was found to be very defective, having rotted from the center toward the outside, and a sharp inspection which shows instances driving the blade three inches into worm-eaten wood, where the outside looked sound and firm.

The examination showed in the case of the First Presbyterian Church steeple that aside from the character of its timbers, the spire itself was in good condition, and that since there is little or no evidence of settling, it must have been so since it was built. The city when it was made under the agreement which was secured for the municipality the site for the City Hall.

Several other steeples are yet to be examined.

BUILDING BIG FACTORY

Ground Broken for Automobile Plant to Employ 1,000 Men.

Ground was broken yesterday for the automobile factory which the Knott-Gordon Co. is erecting in this city. The site is on the Boulevard, near the Fair Grounds, and the contract for a completed structure by February 1.

The plant will cost about $200,000, and will give employment to 1,000 men when it is completed. It was said yesterday that orders had already been received for cars valued at $800,000, though no deliveries can be made until next year.

Settled Out of Court.

The case of the Richmond Pattern and Structural Iron Works against Reay & Atkinson, scheduled for trial yesterday in the Law and Equity Court, was settled out of court just before the case was called. No announcement was made as to the terms of the settlement, although for both sides merely requested that the suit be dismissed.

STRANDED SHIPS. FINALLY FLOATED

Berkeley and Ocracoke Released by High Tide—Brandon Not Aground.

Aided by the flood tide yesterday evening at 7 o'clock, the steamer Berkeley, Captain Shelly, of the Dominion Steamship Company, which grounded near Claremont, about forty miles below Richmond, on Thursday morning, was floated, after more than thirty-six hours' delay. She ran her nose hard and fast in a bar of the James River during a dense fog while coming out this city with passengers and freight from Norfolk.

The passengers were taken from the stranded vessel and sent to Richmond by train. The steamer Ocracoke, a small vessel of the Old Dominion Line, was sent from Norfolk to aid the Berkeley. Early yesterday morning, in a second fog, she also grounded near the river not far below the Berkeley.

Brandon Helps.

The Brandon, a sister ship of the Berkeley, was following the smaller vessel. Distress signals sounded from the latter apprised Captain Harney, of the Brandon, of her distress, and he grounded near the river not far below the Berkeley. As it was not thought that the Berkeley would be floated until some time today, the Ocracoke was to have taken the freight from the stranded vessel and bring it to Richmond. However, as the Berkeley was able to proceed this morning, it was not necessary for the smaller vessel to come here.

The Brandon, delayed by her efforts to float the Ocracoke, did not arrive in Richmond until about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She was due at Norfolk shortly after midnight. The Berkeley proceeded to Richmond, and will resume her run on schedule time to-night.

It is not believed that either of the vessels was damaged by the mishap.

OF NATIONAL SCOPE

Evangelization of Negro Regarded as No Longer Southern Question.

New York, N. J., October 27.—"The evangelization of the negro is no longer a Southern question, but one of national scope," declared Bishop Guerry, of South Carolina, at last night's session of the missionary council of the Episcopal Church.

There are to-day more negroes in New York than there are in New Orleans, continued the bishop, "and as many in Philadelphia as in any Southern city outside of New Orleans. We need you and you need us, and we must work together in doing our duty to the negro people. It is the greatest blot on the American church to-day that we have trifled with the great missionary question at our own doors."

Bishop Guerry saw a menace in the intellectual training of the negro without moral education, and said that education without Christian standards meant placing in the hands of the negro a dangerous weapon.

Kate Douglas Wiggin Here.

Mrs. George Riggs, or, as she is better known, Kate Douglas Wiggin, arrived in this city yesterday, and is quartered at the Jefferson. She comes to superintend the launching of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" on the Richmond theatrical sea next Monday night. It is a dramatization of her novel of the same name, and made its first bow to critical New York last week.

When a reporter called on her at the hotel last night she was "not at home," pleading fatigue.

Suit Instituted.

Suit was instituted yesterday in the Law and Equity Court by Charles E. Bentley against the Virginia Railway and Power Company for damages in the sum of $500. Declaration has been filed, but the suit is understood to be for alleged personal injuries.

Consider Light Franchise.

A meeting has been called for Tuesday night at 8 o'clock of a subcommittee of the Council Committee on Streets, to which was referred the petition of the Richmond and Henric Railway Company for a franchise for distributing and selling electric lighting current throughout the city, and for extension of its street car franchise.

The subcommittee is composed of Messrs. Adams, Pollock, Moore, Venderlehr, Lynch, Don Leavy and Ferguson.

Meeting for Men Only.

Dr. John J. Wicker, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will open the series of meetings for men at the Railroad Y. M. C. A., Seventh and Main Streets, on Sunday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock.

The music will be of a very attractive nature, and the address will be preceded by a display of moving pictures.

Excursion to New York

Old Dominion Line's annual personally conducted excursion will leave Richmond via Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Saturday, November 15, at 4:00 o'clock P. M. Steamer leaves Norfolk 7:00 P. M., arriving in New York 3:30 P. M. Sunday. Gala week in New York November 20 to 25—Horse shows, grand opera and many other attractions.
